Name Surname / Trade Name: _____
Address: _____
Email: _____
Phone: _____
Tax / Turkish ID No: _____

Within the scope of this Form, Node101 and the Buyer shall each be referred to separately as a "Party" and together as the "Parties".

2. ESSENTIAL CHARACTERISTICS OF THE SERVICE

The Service purchased by the Buyer is the RPC infrastructure and access service offered by Node101 for the purpose of providing access to the blockchain network(s) supported by Node101.

The essential characteristics of the Service subject to the Buyer's order are as follows:

Service / Package	_____
Supported Network(s)	_____
Subscription / Service Period	Monthly / Annual
Usage Limit	_____
Service Level (Uptime)	_____
Technical Support Level	_____
Activation Period	_____

The scope and technical specifications of the Service are limited to the features specified on the Site within the scope of the package selected by the Buyer. The availability, maintenance, support, and other service level criteria applicable to the Service are separately regulated under the Service Level Commitments (SLA) published on the Site.

3. SERVICE FEE AND PAYMENT TERMS

Payment information regarding the Buyer's order is as follows:

Service Fee	_____
VAT / Taxes	_____
Total Amount	_____
Payment Method	_____
Billing Period	Monthly / Annual

The total amount payable by the Buyer, including taxes, is separately shown on the Site before completion of the order.

If the Service is offered under a subscription model, the terms regarding renewal, charging, and termination of the subscription are specified in the Distance Sales Agreement.

4. PERFORMANCE OF THE SERVICE

The Service begins to be performed electronically upon successful completion of payment and, where necessary, activation of the Buyer account, by providing the Buyer with the relevant RPC endpoint, API key, and/or other technical information required for access to the Service.

Performance of the Service continues for the period specified above for the purchased package.

The Buyer is obliged to provide the internet connection, software, hardware, and other technical requirements necessary to benefit from the Service.

5. RIGHT OF WITHDRAWAL

If the Buyer has consumer status under Turkish Law No. 6502 on the Protection of Consumers, the Buyer has the right to withdraw from the agreement within fourteen (14) days from establishment of the agreement, without giving any reason and without paying any penalty, without prejudice to the cases set forth in the Regulation on Distance Contracts.

If the right of withdrawal is to be exercised, the withdrawal notification must be sent to Node101 through the following contact channel within the fourteen (14) day period:

Email: sales@node101.io

Refunds to be made if the right of withdrawal is exercised are carried out in accordance with the applicable legislation and the principles specified in the Distance Sales Agreement.

6. EXCEPTION TO THE RIGHT OF WITHDRAWAL AND IMMEDIATE PERFORMANCE OF THE SERVICE

Pursuant to the Regulation on Distance Contracts, contracts relating to services performed instantly in electronic environment are among the exceptions to the right of withdrawal.

If the Buyer requests that the Service be activated immediately after completion of the payment transaction and that RPC/API access be provided to the Buyer, performance of the Service will begin electronically.

The Buyer acknowledges that, if the Buyer requests immediate activation of the Service during the order process, the Buyer has been informed that the right of withdrawal may not be exercisable within the scope of the nature of the Service and applicable legislation.

7. COMPLAINTS AND DISPUTES

The Buyer may submit all requests and complaints regarding the Service to Node101 via the email address sales@node101.io.

If the Buyer has consumer status, Consumer Arbitration Committees and Consumer Courts at the Buyer's place of residence or the place where the consumer transaction was carried out are authorized for disputes that may arise from this Form and the Distance Sales Agreement within the monetary limits prescribed under applicable legislation.

8. PRELIMINARY INFORMATION AND APPROVAL

The Buyer accepts and declares that, before completing the order and undertaking a payment obligation, the Buyer had the opportunity to review this Form and the Distance Sales Agreement electronically, and was informed clearly and comprehensibly about the essential characteristics of the Service, information regarding the Service Provider, the total Service fee, payment and performance terms, the SLA applicable to the Service, the right of withdrawal, and exceptions to the right of withdrawal.

By approving this Form electronically, the Buyer confirms that the preliminary information has been provided to the Buyer.
